

LUKE MASER

5TH GRADE TEACHER

Mr. Luke Maser is one of NOCA's new fifth-grade teachers. Mr. Maser has spent the previous 16 years in Toledo, but originally hails from Providence, Rhode Island. This year alone, he has graduated from Bowling Green State University's acclaimed education program, married the love of his life in April, and received his first teaching job.

After working a variety of jobs post-high school, including in broadcast television and concert sound production, Mr. Maser found his passion for teaching while working in the AWANA program and decided to return to school to pursue his Bachelor's in Education at Bowling Green State University, graduating May 2020. Profoundly influenced by his parent's passion for learning, Mr. Maser loves gaining understanding and knowledge in a variety of subjects and hopes to inspire future generations to be curious about the world around them and to never stop learning.

Mr. Maser and his wife, Halie, are eagerly anticipating the addition of a little one in January. When not teaching, he can be found reading, volunteering at church, and spending time with friends and family.
